ALIGN faucets feature high-arc spouts that are complemented by geometric handles, emphasising the simplicity and elegance of the design. The visual elements of the faucets are integrated into each other, delivering a clean and simple appearance. The single-hole installation fits cleanly against solid-surface and natural-material countertops that are popular in the kitchens of today.

METRIS

Hansgrohe, together with Phoenix Design, has developed an innovative design vocabulary specifically for the METRIS kitchen mixer. The mixer body emerges from a gently rounded square base and tapers upward in pyramid fashion before curving neatly into a circular spout. The SoftCube design perfectly harmonises with the rectangular shape found in many contemporary-style washbasins. The extended surfaces of the long, ergonomically shaped lever offer plenty of contact areas for hands, fingers, and even elbows. This makes turning the tap on and off, and adjusting the temperature easy and convenient.

PERFEQUE

marketed by GRAFF

The PERFEQUE collection exemplifies precision engineering and style. The faucet design features a seamless pull-down spray head with technology that locks the spray attachment into place with a gentle twist of the wrist. Perfeque is available with or without black detailing on the spray attachment and handle in polished chrome, Steelnox, polished nickel, olive bronze, antique copper and antique brushed nickel.
