

Above: The shower was also designed for two people. It comes with twin showerheads and two sets of controls. The walls are lined with geometric random glass tiles that help to bounce light around the room. Bench seats – one large and one small – are topped with slabs of Silver Mountain travertine, which matches the floor tiles.

"This was where we could indulge her fantasy, with a sink vanity and a separate, lowered make-up area," the designer says. "We chose marble countertops that resemble crystal clouds floating above the dark wood cabinets. These are cantilevered off the floor to enhance the effect and to make the room seem more spacious."

Scones with Swarovski crystals are set within niches that frame the mirrors on both of the vanities.

"The sconces sparkle and shine against the iridescent silk mosaic tiles in the niches, providing a soft, flattering illumination," says Katsioulas-Beall. "The sconces match the crystal chandelier suspended above the tub."

The designer also added a steam shower, placed in the corner between the vanities.

Designed for two, the shower has his-and-hers showerheads and body sprays, a rainhead, two benches and niches.

"We dressed the shower with a geometric glass tile, so it envelops the owners, much like a sparkling jewel box."

Silver Mountain travertine slabs cut into floor tiles were laid to reference a stream, with the travertine treated to be anti-slip. Similar travertine features on the tub surround and on the bench seats in the shower. Every surface has been given the same special attention, much to the owners' enjoyment.

"Starting and ending the day surrounded by beauty is a lovely way to live," they say.

save | share

Search 43407 at my.trendsideas.com

Interior designer: Elna Katsioulas-Beall, DeWitt Designer Kitchens (Pasadena, CA)

Vanity tops: Blue Grey Crystal marble with square miter edge detail by Moise Marble & Granite

Cabinetry: Benchmark in Espresso
Cabinet knobs and pulls: Essential Z by Amerock

Tub: Americh Catalina from George's Plumbing

Tub deck: Silver Mountain travertine; glass mosaic, by Moise Marble & Granite

Basins: O'Brien Porcelain Katie in White from George's Plumbing

Faucets and shower fittings: Graff Tranquility

Shower enclosure: Silver Mountain travertine with random glass mosaic tile by Moise Marble & Granite

Showerhead: Kalista Jaton with arm
Flooring: Silver Mountain travertine from Moise Marble & Granite

Wall tiles: Glass mosaic tiles from Canyon Tile & Stone

Lighting: Halo recessed ceiling fixture and sconces from Mi Casa Lighting

Above: The cabinetry incorporates hamper and towel storage, and there is a large niche for a television. The sense of glamour is enhanced by the lighting, which includes dimmable, recessed ceiling halogens, soffit lights, and under-cabinet, low-voltage strip lighting.

Story by Colleen Hawkes
Photography by Suki Medencevic