MODERNIST LIGHT

BoConcept has brought iconic lamps by legendary Danish designer Verner Panton to India. Even though the lamps were originally designed in between 1960-1980, their modernist traits fit snugly with the current design wave. From the Onion pendant, with its layer of metal lamella 'skins' in white which gently diffuse the light in between the layers, to the Globe lamp, an acrylic sphere with deconstructed aluminium reflectors inside, the collection includes designs that bring together imaginative forms without compromising on the functional quality. Claus Ditlevsen, collection director at BoConcept, commented, "In many ways, BoConcept and Verner Panton share the same ethos – creating Danish furniture and accessories for an international audience."

HARMONY MEETS GEOMETRY

Graff describes its new line of bath solutions, Dressage, as 'harmony, geometry and versatility'. It comprises a vanity, bathtub, stool and clothes hanger composed with solid wood and Corian DuPont. The compact and functional vanity furniture includes washbasin with a tray for cosmetics, a towel hook, a chest-of-drawers and a movable mirror. All elements of water supply and discharge are located inside, hidden from the eye. The free-standing bathtub has an angular cut that allows one to stretch and relax, with a headrest made of leather and a shelf for storing products. Each object is autonomous, but together they create a picturesque bathroom.

DIGITAL BEAUTY

In its Autumn-Winter collection, Spaces Home & Beyond seamlessly blends digital prints, vibrant hues and interesting textures to form a diverse collection. The Boho Chic collection – in abstract, scenic and geometric variations – is a combination of subtle watercolour and ink treatment. Youthopia Denim Collection has a peculiar patchwork inspired by denim elements with resist effect and textures, and it can be matched with graphical pillows. The Epica Collection, on the other hand, has classy floral, Persian and abstract motifs along with higher thread count.

CLEAN AND ATTRACTIVE

Geberit, a leading player in the field of sanitary technology, has launched new shower channels CleanLine, which are innovative and also tick all the boxes when it comes to cleanliness and hygiene. Dirt could easily accumulate under the cover in a conventional shower channel, but CleanLine offers an ideal solution as there are no hidden edges and no corners in difficult-to-reach places. What's more, the small inlet connector cover with integrated comb insert can be removed and cleaned. Also, the brushed stainless steel channels can be cut to suit the precise size of the showering area.
